

Rhinusa algerica* and Rhinusa emmirichi - actually two different taxa in Cyprus?

According to R. Caldara (in lit.), R. algerica and R. emmirichi belong to the R. bipustulata group (same shape of genitalia) and are very similar. Only a detailed molecular study can provide information as to whether these are really two different taxa. (Caldara 2014; Fernández-Carrillo et al. 2022)